

Educate. Engage. Empower.

New York City Men Teach City University of New York Traditional Certification Programs

What is NYC Men Teach?

In January 2015, Mayor Bill de Blasio, in conjunction with New York City's Young Men's Initiative, made a bold pledge: NYC will develop new initiatives and programs aiming to put an additional 1,000 men of color on course to become NYC public school teachers over the next three years!

NYC Men Teach (NYCMT) is working to increase the number of males of color deciding to make teaching a profession and specifically applying to and accepting positions in NYC public schools. Last year, the Department of Education (DOE) received over 13,000 applications. Of the over 11,000 applicants who self-reported their ethnicity, about 41% identified as a teacher candidate of color, of that 41%, only 8% were male.

How can NYC Men Teach help me be a teacher?

NYC Men Teach under the Department of Education will work in conjunction with the City University of New York to enlist Black, Latino and Asian men into CUNY's traditional certification teaching programs that will commit them to educate today's diverse student population; support each other's professional and leadership development; and empower the communities they serve.

What's a traditional certification program?

With all New York City public school teachers needing to either have a master's in the subject they wish to teach or be working towards it, The City University of New York offers New York State teaching certification through master's programs offered at nine campuses across all five boroughs. Each master's program averages 1-2 years and includes all necessary coursework.

How do CUNY traditional certification programs fit into NYC Men Teach?

If you have a high school diploma, GED, bachelor's degree, or a master's degree that is not in education, you can apply through any of our CUNY campuses and complete their application process. With the entire CUNY system delivering a wide breadth of program options, we urge you to explore the many offerings and select the individual program that suits your interests.

Educate. Engage. Empower.

With more than 2,700 students, Brooklyn College's School of Education is one of the largest such schools in New York. Both undergraduate and graduate programs are offered in: early childhood education/art education; childhood, bilingual, and special education; and secondary education, as well as additional graduate programs in school psychology, counseling, and leadership. Rolling Admission varies based on program. Transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and GRE General Test are required for admission.

Brooklyn College School of Education
2900 Bedford Ave.
Brooklyn, NY 11210

www.brooklyn.cuny.edu

At City College's School of Education, aspiring and experienced educators join a community of scholars and practitioners who embrace the opportunities for all students that are found in an urban environment. City College's diversity—among its students, across the schools in which they practice, and even in the urban context itself—creates rich possibilities for teaching and learning. Rolling Admission varies based on program. Transcripts, 3 letters of recommendation, a minimum 3.0 GPA, and GRE General Test are required for admission.

City College School of Education
160 Convent Ave.
New York, NY 10031

www.ccnyc.cuny.edu

The College of Staten Island's School of Education is committed to enhancing its academic and co-curricular programs in concert with the fundamental principle that teaching is a vital profession which requires an understanding of children and learning, proficiency in a variety of pedagogies, the ability to formulate a sound plan, and the wisdom to know when to deviate from it. Rolling Admission varies based on program. Transcripts, and GRE General Test are required for admission. Minimum GPA requirement varies by program.

College of Staten Island English Dept.
2800 Victory Blvd.
Staten Island, NY 10314

www.csi.cuny.edu

Educate. Engage. Empower.

Hunter College's School of Education is dedicated to the preparation of deeply thoughtful, knowledgeable and highly effective teachers. Its commitment is to educating future professionals who will make a significant impact on the academic, intellectual, social, and emotional development of their students. Rolling Admission varies based on program. Transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, a minimum 3.0 GPA, and GRE General Test are required for admission.

Hunter College School of Education
695 Park Ave.
New York, NY 10065

www.hunter.cuny.edu

Lehman's School of Education is comprised of more than twenty-five nationally recognized and/or New York State-approved teacher, counselor, and educational leader certification and advanced certificate programs. The mission is to facilitate the development of competent, caring, and qualified educators. Rolling Admission varies based on program. Transcripts and GRE General Test are required for admission. Letters of recommendation and minimum GPA requirement varies by program.

Lehman College School of Education
250 Bedford Park Blvd. West
Bronx, NY 10468

www.lehman.cuny.edu

Medgar Evers Education Department's mission is "to prepare change agents for classrooms, schools and communities who educate to liberate." Medgar Evers prepares students to become teachers who will work and live within a multicultural community and who will strive to promote the best education for all children. Education degrees offered only at an Associate's and Bachelor's level. Admission for fall deadline is in August.

Medgar Evers Education Dept.
1650 Bedford Avenue
Brooklyn, NY 11225

www.mec.cuny.edu

Educate. Engage. Empower.

The NYC College of Technology offers a Bachelor's in Technology Teacher Education as well as certificate programs for Career and Technical Education (CTE) subjects. Technology education is a curriculum offered in kindergarten through 12th grade that uses hands-on activities to engage learners in critical thinking and problem-solving as they design and develop products and systems to solve practical problems in the human-made world. Two admission deadlines offered based on semester of enrollment.

NYC College of Technology Math Dept.
300 Jay St.
Brooklyn, NY 11201

www.citytech.cuny.edu

Queens College's Division of Education specializes in providing teaching candidates classroom and field training to be of service to schools in diverse urban communities. Queens College recognizes the many levels of education candidates bring and adheres to those specific needs. Admission deadlines, letters of recommendations, and GPA minimum requirements vary based on program. Transcripts and GRE General Test are required for admission.

Queens College Division of Education
65-30 Kissena Blvd.
Flushing, NY 11367

www.qc.cuny.edu

York College's Baccalaureate teacher education programs develop a cadre of professional educators who are prepared with an array of theories, tools and skills necessary to create rich learning environments that draw on the strengths of students' diverse cultures, languages, exceptionalities, multiple intelligences, and learning styles. By providing students with learning experiences that develop deep and broad content knowledge and life skills, York College's teacher candidates become effective practitioners within the field of education.

York College Dept. of Teacher Education
94-20 Guy R. Brewer Blvd.
Jamaica, NY 11451

www.york.cuny.edu